

Arts + Health Month an opportunity for organizations and individuals worldwide to promote the integration of the arts, including literary, performing, visual arts and design, into a wide variety of healthcare and community settings for therapeutic, educational, and expressive purposes.

Founded by the Society for the Arts in Healthcare, Arts + Health Month is a time to host awareness-raising events and heighten media attention for our field.

The USC Institute for Genetic Medicine Art Gallery

Cordially invites you to the opening reception
For an art exhibition associated with Arts +Health
A Different Kind of Light

Featuring Art works by Naomi Scully, Alexandre Maroutian, Joanna Kos and Others

Sunday, November 13, from 1:00p.m. – 4:00 p.m. PUBLIC OPENING

The USC Institute for Genetic Medicine Art Gallery
2250 Alcazar Street, 2nd Floor, Los Angeles, CA 90033

CLICK for directions    RSVP jilen@msn.com

This November, please join us and others in celebrating the positive impact the arts have on the healthcare experience. Help raise awareness about how the arts improve patient outcomes; create safer, more supportive healthcare environments; offer caregivers an opportunity for creativity and self-expression; and benefit communities by engaging people in arts programs aimed at prevention and wellness. Let's use our collective voice to advance Arts + Health and show the world the benefits of approaching health creatively. You may share events, express ideas, and connect with new audiences and colleagues from around the globe.

Naomi Scully, Z Twisted Rainbow, 2016

Alex Maroutian, Fractal X, 2016

Joanna Kos, Eternity, 2014